

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A package for a product, the package comprising a body formed by layers of packaging material and at least one cavity formed by an outward projection of at least one of said layers, characterized in that one of said layers, in a region of said at least one cavity, is provided with a line of weakness or a cut in the material of said layer
5 extending partially around an entrance to said cavity and defining a releasable hinged flap forming an openable and closable lid for said cavity.